MONSTER LABOR PARADE.

Fifty thousand workmen, representing over a hundred labor unions, and led by striking members of the Chicago Federated Trades, will march in a monster parade through the loop district and down to the First Regiment Armory, 16th street and Michigan avenue, tomorrow afternoon, where a protest meeting will be held against the attitude of the trust newspapers in locking out their pressmen, and the tactics of Mayor Harrison and Chief McWeeny, who have delivered the city police force into the hands of the publishers.

If L. P. Straube, president of the local Stereotypers' Union and a delegate to the recent stereotypers' convention in San Francisco, returns to Chicago before 1 o'clock tomorrow, he will head the parade. In this way the union men will show their faith in Straube and his action in calling a strike of his union and their disapproval of the action of President Freel of the International Stereotypers' Union in barring the delegates from the striking Chicago union from the convention.

Banners, with various inscriptions condemning merchants who advertise in the trust papers, will be carried if Chief McWeeny does not bar them. The chief has established a strict censorship over the banners and will refuse to allow any carried that do not meet with his approval or that of the newspapers.

The parade will start in West Washington boulevard at Curtis street at 1 o'clock. Thence it will march east to Franklin street, south to Adams, east to State, south to 16th and then to the armory on Michigan avenue.

Chief McWeeny will not allow the parade to stop in front of any of the newspapers which locked out their pressmen, and if any demonstrations are attempted the parade will probably be broken up and the leaders arrested.

THE POLITICAL MESS.

The Roosevelt forces began to go to pieces this afternoon.

The test vote came when Gov. Hadley, of Missouri, moved that the 72 contested delegates be not allowed to vote on their own contests.

Jim Watson, of Indiana, Taft's floor leader, was on his feet im-
